JUST RECEIVED FROM BALTIMORE,

A SPLENDID stock of Goods, embracing every class of Merchandise that any one will want; and having bought them after a considerable decline in goods of all kinds, I feel confident that I can sell to any body that wishes to purchase if they will but give me a call.

It is not necessary for me to enumerate what I have to sell, as I keep everything that any other merchant has. All you have to do is to come and see for yourself, and I know you will be satisfied with quantity, quality and price.

I am now occupying the old stand of E. W. Byrum, on Mechanic's Row, temporarily, but expect to move my stock in a very short while to the elegant new building on North-east corner of public square, where I hope to be able to open a larger stock. Don't forget the sign of the Bargain Store, Mechanic's Row.
